

MOSS STREET MARKET has an information table available to groups

Bees, organic farming issues, BC Assessment dual taxation on agricultural land...all current issues facing the growing of sustainable organic food for our region. Did you know that our market has a space available for groups to come and inform the public about such issues? Education and discussion is important - so if you have a worthy cause you would like to share please let us know.

Moss Street Market is now celebrating its 19th season. We are proud of our "Our vendors make it, bake it or grow it" policy, and our fostering of small local endeavours.

Moss Street Market strives...

... to strengthen the foundation of healthy community by offering a safe, relaxing and enjoyable place for families and individuals to come together.

... to stimulate and support our local economy by providing a venue for organic market gardeners, backyard growers, home produced food, crafts and artisans.

... to create an opportunity for community groups to convey information to their neighbours concerning important local, social, political and environmental issues.

... to encourage the continuing transition towards ecologically harmonious methods of food production, striving to work with, rather than against the natural system, and

... to have fun!
